

Hamiltonian quantization of kinks

David Stuart

University of Cambridge, UK

Abstract.

The kinks are soliton solutions in for example the sine-Gordon equation and other relativistic equations in two space-time dimensions. They are the simplest topological solitons and have a mass and obey the relativistic energy momentum relation. We discuss their quantization in the Hamiltonian framework with attention to the mass gap.